REED ANSWERS CURLEE CHARGE

SENATOR SAYS HE HAS NEVER CONDONED LUSITANIA SINKING.

CALL CURLEE FOR FACTS

Reed Declares St. Louisian Has Repeatedly Refused to Back His Statement With Facts.

Senator James A. Reed issued a statement at Washington today about the charges made by Francis M. Curlee of St. Louis in his speech at the Joplin convention in which Mr. Curlee charged that Senator Reed had condoned the sinking of the Lusitania and that he (Curlee) had heard Reed do so.

The statement in part is as follows:

I read in the telegraphic reports of the Joplin convention that Mr. Francis M. Curlee in a speech had charged that I "condoned the sinking of the Lusitania," and that he had added that he "had heard me do so!"

The statement was not only untrue but so opposed to my every feeling, act and utterance that I felt the telegraphic accounts must be inaccurate. I assumed that if Mr. Curlee was a man of honor, he would either repudiate the charge attributed to me, or in the event he had made the charge in good faith, he would frankly state when and where he understood me to have "condoned the sinking of the Lusitania." In the latter event, I knew that I could present overwhelming evidence that no such statement had ever passed my lips and I expected that Mr. Curlee would thereupon promptly retract the false and libelous charge by him made.

Accordingly, at my request Mr. Selph, who was accompanied by Hon. Speed Mosby, saw Mr. Curlee and requested him to state when and where I had condoned the sinking of the Lusitania. To my surprise, and I think to the surprise of the gentlemen named, Mr. Curlee declined to answer the question.

Subsequently I learned that Mr. Mr. Curlee was in Washington. I thereupon wrote him the following letter:

"May 7, 1920.

"Francis M. Curlee, Esq.,
"Washington, D. C.

"Sir:

"Learning that you are in Washington today, I am embracing this opportunity to write you this letter.

"The press brought to me the report that at the Joplin convention you publicly charged that I had condoned the sinking of the Lusitania, and added that you yourself heard me do so. Notwithstanding these press reports, I was not prepared to believe you had made the above statement, but I have recently been informed by persons present at the convention that the press reports are substantially accurate. I am further informed that when you were asked by Mr. Selph in the presence of Honorable Speed Mosby to state when and where you claimed to have heard me condone the sinking of the Lusitania, that you avoided a direct answer.

"I feel under the circumstances that I am entitled to a clear statement from you as to the time and place when you claim I made the statement above set out and the circumstances under which it was made. If you made the charge, then you must certainly be able to give the information I ask immediately. I, therefore, request an answer by bearer.

"Very truly,
JAMES A. REED."

This letter was delivered to Mr. Curlee by General Emmett Newton in the presence of representatives of the Globe-Democrat and the Post-Dispatch. These newspaper men went along in order to hear and to make public any explanation Mr. Curlee might desire to make.

Mr. Curlee admitted having made the charge but refused to state when or where he claimed I had made the statement attributed to me. He also refused at that time to answer my letter as I had requested.

I submit to every candid man that if Mr. Curlee had ever heard me condone the sinking of the Lusitania, he would have without hesitation stated the time, the place and the Killed Three Wolves With Gas.

Elvet McBride took his tractor to a wolf den one day this week and connected a rubber hose to the exhaust pipe, and ran it into the entrance of the den. A few minutes running of the tractor caused a young wolf to come out coughing and fall over dead. The boys in the crowd then dug into the den and found two other young wolves dead from the gas. The den showed signs of frequent raids on chicken houses, for there were many bones strewn about. Elvet shot at a wolf that had a chicken in its mouth but failed to kill it.—Barnard Bulletin.

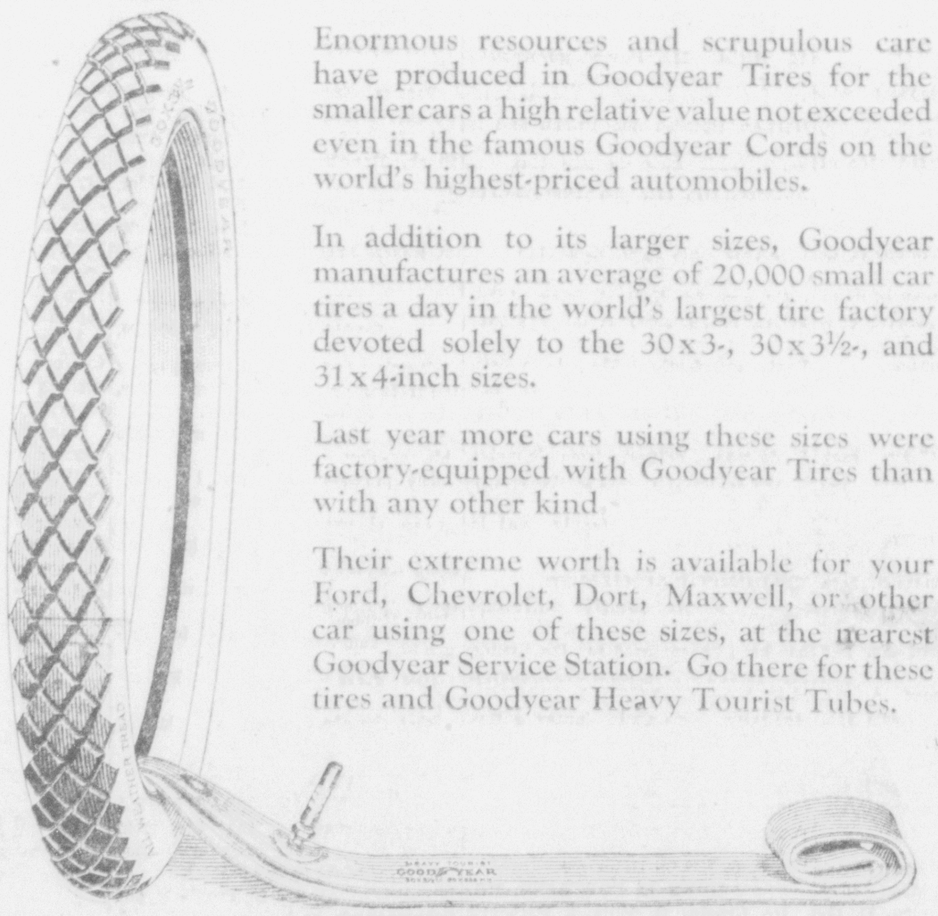
Goodyear Leadership— and Tires for the Smaller Cars



Enormous resources and scrupulous care have produced in Goodyear Tires for the smaller cars a high relative value not exceeded even in the famous Goodyear Cords on the world's highest-priced automobiles.

In addition to its larger sizes, Goodyear manufactures an average of 20,000 small car tires a day in the world's largest tire factory devoted solely to the 30x3-, 30x3½-, and 31x4-inch sizes.

Last year more cars using these sizes were factory-equipped with Goodyear Tires than with any other kind.

Their extreme worth is available for your Ford, Chevrolet, Dort, Maxwell, or other car using one of these sizes, at the nearest Goodyear Service Station. Go there for these tires and Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes.

30x3½ Goodyear Double-Cure Fabric, All-Weather Tread $23.50
30x3½ Goodyear Single-Cure Fabric, Anti-Skid Tread $21.50

Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are built to protect casings. Why endanger a good casing with a cheap tube? Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes cost little more than tubes of less merit. 30x3½ size in waterproof bag $4.50

It doesn't make much difference

Robinson, a delegate to the State Democratic Convention at Joplin in April and by Mrs. C. C. Corwin, a delegate to the Republican convention held at Kansas City last week. Both speakers gave detailed reports of the conventions and dwelt on the part the women for the first time took at these conventions. They emphasized the new responsibility and the sense of obligation every woman should feel toward informing themselves on political questions, since women now have a chance to assist in directing the country's projects.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

REED ANSWERS CHARGE

circumstances. His failure to do so and his refusal to make any statement, shows that he dares not state the time, the place or the circumstances, and that he knew there was not a word of truth in the charge by him uttered. I was anxious to have Mr. Curlee state the time and the place because I had never had a private conversation with him about the Lusitania in my life. He, by no possibility, ever heard me speak of the Lusitania except when others were present and he well knew if he fixed the time and place that I would confront him with overwhelming evidence of the falsity of his charge.

This being the situation, nothing remains for me to do except to present the evidence that on numerous occasions, extending over a period of more than three years, I have repeatedly and bitterly denounced the sinking of the Lusitania. I have done so in more than a hundred public speeches, for there was scarcely a speech made by me in the campaign of 1916 in which I did not speak of this frightful atrocity and condemn it in unmistakable terms.

On October 3, 1918, at a liberty loan meeting at the Liberty Theatre, St. Louis, I delivered an address. I was introduced by Honorable Festus J. Wade. I have in my possession a stenographic copy of that speech, which, as I recall, was sent to me by Mr. Wade. I quote:

"It is no part of a pleasant task to speak harshly of any people, but let me present to you a picture, one I recently presented to a St. Louis audience. I want to give you the picture of the German military soul.

"There is the peaceful Atlantic Ocean and across its surface is gliding a floating palace; a palace bearing within it a population of a small size American city. It is the Lusitania. Upon its decks men and women walk enjoying the ocean breezes. Down in the cabins there is music and dancing. Seated in chairs are women with babies in their arms, and children playing about in happiness. Down in the steerage are other men and women, with less of the world's goods than the other passengers, perhaps, but all happy, and they are going back to their native shores with all the contentment of reunited families in their hearts.

"Off yonder lurks an assassin. Its officer looks out through a periscope. He does not take a chance, he does not give a moment's warning, but suddenly he presses a button and sends a deadly torpedo into the side of the floating palace, and hurls the bodies of men and women into thousands of atoms and sends down in the sea this great palace on which women and children a moment ago, had been in pleasure roaming about and now mothers are going into eternity holding their babes, and fathers are going down trying to rescue their children and wives and women are standing on the decks dying beside their husbands. That was the act of the German Government."

On November 11, 1919, in discussing the policy of neutrality, which we had observed prior to our entrance into the war, I unconsciously repeated almost word for word the language of the St. Louis speech. My remarks will be found in Congressional Record, Vol. 58, Part 8, Page 8267, 66th Congress, 1st Session.

On November 12, 1919, again discussing the policy of neutrality and after quoting from President Wilson's speech of acceptance of the nomination for his second term, wherein he still advocated neutrality, I said:

" * * * The President at that time had in mind the outrages that had been perpetrated within our own borders, the conspiracies of the German government that had already been unearthed, the manifest wrongs that had been perpetrated upon our commerce * * * the wickedness of the sinking of the Lusitania, the cruelties and brutalities that had defaced the world and placed an indelible stain upon the character of the German government. * * *

(See Cong. Record, Vol. 58, Part 8, Page 8267, 66th Cong. 1st Session).

On numerous other occasions in public, in the State of Missouri, as well as in the city of Washington, in the Senate and out of the Senate, I have denounced the sinking of the Lusitania.

With such men abroad in the land as Mr. Curlee, it is indeed fortunate that my addresses have been delivered in the presence of large audiences or in the United States Senate, and that they have been solemnly preserved and are of record.

Let the public judge of the character of man who makes the sort of charge that Mr. Curlee did and who refuses to state when and where such utterances were made.

Judge as to his veracity and honor in view of the record I have set forth.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Warner.

Onalaska, Wis.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of stomach I could not lie in bed. I suffered so it seemed as though I would die, and I was not regular either. I suffered for a year and was unfit to do my housework, could only wash dishes once in a while. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women and decided to try it. It surely did wonders for me. I have no pains now and I can do my house work without any trouble at all. I will always praise your medicine as I do not believe there is a doctor that can do as much good in female weakness, and you may use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. LESTER E. WARNER, 913 Pine St., La Crosse, Wis.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

Little Hope of Relief For Victims of Catarrh

Unless Old-Time, Obsolete Treatment Is Discarded.

Doubtless during the mild summer months you have enjoyed some relief from the disease, because there is always less inflammation of the membranes during the summer, but do not make the mistake of thinking that your Catarrh is gone, for the very first raw, damp, wintry day, the delicate linings of the membranes will begin to again become irritated and sore, the air passages will begin to clog up, and soon you will find that your old enemy is still with you, with a fiendish intention of making the winter as full of discomfort as ever.

What are you going to do about it? If you have had the disease for any length of time, the chances are that you have used enough local remedies to convince you that there is no cure for you in this method of treatment. Are you going to drag through another winter hawking and spitting and spraying constantly in an effort to unclog the stopped up air passages so that you can get your breath for awhile, knowing that these accumulations will immediately reappear—or are you going to discard this makeshift treatment, and use a little intelligence in an effort to get rid of this disease that is such an annoyance and a constant hadicap?

You must accept the teachings of science, which shows that to get rid of any disease, you must treat it at its source, you must direct your efforts toward removing its cause, instead of being satisfied with slight temporary relief from its symptoms. You must rout out from your blood the millions of tiny germs which cause Catarrh, so that there can be no more inflammation of the nose and throat, and choked up nasal passages that make breathing difficult and painful.

S. S. S., the fine old blood remedy, has given splendid results in the treatment of Catarrh, and you will be delighted with its effect on your case. It so purifies and cleanses the blood, that disease germs are eradicated, hence when the germs of your Catarrh are eliminated from the blood, you are on the right road to a permanent riddance from the disease. Go to your drug store, and get a bottle of S. S. S. to day and begin the real rational treatment that will give real results.

If you will write our medical department, we will take pleasure in giving instructions regarding the treatment of your own particular case. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 15 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.
